Twentieth-century Italian poetry is haunted by countless ghosts and shadows from opera. Echoes of Opera in Modern Italian Poetry reveals their presence and sheds light on their role in shaping that great poetic tradition. This is the first work in English to analyze the influence of opera on modern Italian poetry, uncovering a fundamental but neglected relationship between the two art forms. A group of Italian poets, from Gabriele D'Annunzio to Giorgio Caproni, by way of Umberto Saba and Eugenio Montale, made opera a cornerstone of their artistic craft. More than an occasional stylistic influence, opera is rather analyzed as a fundamental facet of these poets' intellectual quest to overcome the expressive limitations of lyrical poetry. This book reframes modern Italian poetry in a truly interdisciplinary perspective, broadening our understanding of its prominence within the humanities, in the twentieth century and beyond.

Despite the fact that Eugenio Montale produced only five volumes of poetry in his first fifty years as a writer, when the Swedish Academy awarded the Italian poet and critic the 1975 Nobel Prize for Literature they called him "one of the most important poets of the contemporary West," according to a Publishers Weekly report. One of Montale's translators, Jonathan Galassi, echoed the enthusiastic terms of the Academy in his introduction to The Second Life of Art: Selected Essays of Eugenio Montale in which he referred to Montale as "one of the great artistic sensibilities of our time."

Focusing on the most recent triad of Italian poetic genius—Umberto Saba, Giuseppe Ungaretti, and Eugenio Montale—Joseph Cary not only presents striking biographical portraits as he facilitates our understanding of their poetry; he also guides us through the first few decades of twentieth-century Italy, a most difficult period in its literary and cultural development.

Montale e la parola riflessa Cambridge University Press

Studienarbeit aus dem Jahr 1996 im Fachbereich Romanistik - Italienische u. Sardische Sprache, Literatur, Landeskunde, Note: 1,0, Ruprecht-Karls-Universität Heidelberg (Romanisches Seminar), Veranstaltung: Moderne italienische Lyrik, 11 Quellen im Literaturverzeichnis, Sprache: Deutsch, Abstract: In der ersten Hälfte unseres Jahrhunderts, im ersten Weltkrieg und später, trat eine umstrittene Gruppe von Dichtern auf, angeführt von Ungaretti, deren Dichtung aufgrund ihres ernsten, dunklen Tons den Namen poesia ermetica bekam. Es entstand eine Diskussion, ob dies als echte Dichtung zu bezeichnen sei, die Urteile fielen negativ aus: die Dichtung sei unverständlich, sehr schwer faßbar. Doch teilte sich diese Kritik bald in zwei Lager. Benedetto Croce, jener größte Literaturkritiker, war Vertreter derer, die aufgrund ästhetischer Unterscheidung diese Art Dichtung völlig ablehnten und als non-poesia bezeichneten. Croces enormer Einfluß in der Zeit zwischen den beiden Weltkriegen bewirkte, daß diese Poesie lange unbeachtet blieb. Auf der anderen Seite stand die zweite Gruppe: die der Universitätsprofessoren. Unter ihnen Petruzelli und De Robertis. Sie gaben der Dichtung ihren Namen: hermetische Poesie. Ein Dichter dieser poesia ermetica war Eugenio Montale aus Ligurien. Am 12. Oktober diesen Jahres jährt sich Montales Geburtstag zum hundertsten Male. Zahlreiche Kongresse, Vorträge, Symposien deuten auf dieses Ereignis hin. In Montale Lyrik finden sich Einflüsse von vielen großen Dichtern wie Leopardi, Pascoli, D'Annunzio und Sbarbaro, aber auch von jenem großen Dichter des 14. Jahrhunderts, Dante. Jedoch entwickelte Montale seine eigene charakteristische Originalität in Stil und Diktion. Sein Frühwerk, der Zyklus Ossi di seppia, 1925 veröffentlicht, besteht aus einer Reihe landschaftlich bestimmter Gedichte, in denen er Motive seiner heimatlichen, ligurischen Küste und des ligurischen Meeres einarbeitet. Die Darstellung des Konkreten, womit er Allgemeines ausdrückt, die naturalistische Beschreibung, die doch von metaphysischer Dimension ist, diese Opposition vom Besonderen und Speziellen, vom Vagen und Bestimmten soll auf Pascolis Einfluß zurückgehen. Non chiederci la parola ist das Eingangsgedicht der Ossi di Seppia. Dieses Gedicht soll Gegenstand dieser Hausarbeit sein, die zunächst formal, dann inhaltlich Montale Gedicht zu erschließen und zu deuten versucht. So werden im ersten Teil Metrik und Reim analysiert werden, im zweiten Teil Bilder und Wortfiguren, bevor im dritten Teil eine Deutung versucht wird.

A look at how ideas of translation, migration, and displacement are embedded in the works of prominent artists, from Ovid to Tacita Dean On Belonging and Not Belonging provides a sophisticated exploration of how themes of translation, migration, and displacement shape an astonishing range of artistic works. From the possibilities and limitations of translation addressed by Jhumpa Lahiri and David Malouf to the effects of shifting borders in the writings of Eugenio Montale, W. G. Sebald, Colm Tóibín, and many others, esteemed literary critic Mary Jacobus looks at the ways novelists, poets, photographers, and filmmakers revise narratives of language, identity, and exile. Jacobus's attentive readings of texts and images seek to answer the question: What does it mean to identify as—or with—an outsider? Walls and border-crossings, nomadic wanderings and Alpine walking, the urge to travel and the yearning for home—Jacobus braids together such threads in disparate times and geographies. She plumbs the experiences of Ovid in exile, Frankenstein's outcast Being, Elizabeth Bishop in Nova Scotia and Brazil, Walter Benjamin's Berlin childhood, and Sophocles's Antigone in the wilderness. Throughout, Jacobus trains her eye on issues of transformation and translocation; the traumas of partings, journeys, and returns; and confrontations with memory and the past. Focusing on human conditions both modern and timeless, On Belonging and Not Belonging offers a unique consideration of inclusion and exclusion in our world.

The six overlapping studies that make up this book on the poetry of Eugenio Montale analyze a large number of individual poems and, with Le occasioni (1939) as a point of reference, show how they shape and are shaped by changes and continuities that extend from the earliest poems of Ossi di seppia (1925) to the notoriously difficult poems in his culminating achievement, La bufera (1956). A partir de una concepción global de la primera obra de Eugenio Montale Ossi di Seppia -no como mera suma de poemas- y en base a la teoría de los campos semánticos el objetivo propuesto ha sido el alcanzar su nivel contactivo. En consecuencia se ha procedido en una etapa previa a la identificación de los rasgos dominantes del léxico del corpus y a su posterior reorganización en función de aquellos. La estroductión del trabajo viene justificada por los rasgos dominantes denotativos a los que se suman los connotativos obtenidos de las asociaciones de las diversas palabras. Ello determina la ampliación de los campos semánticos en la connotación con todos aquellos términos que poseen en común el mismo rasgo dominante a este nivel lo que da lugar a la agrupación de palabras que contienen rasgos denotativos distintos esto es pertenecientes a diversos campos semánticos en uno solo de carácter connotativo.

With a clear comparative approach, this volume brings together for the first time contributions that cover different periods of the history of ancient pharmacology, from Greek, Byzantine, and Syriac medicine to the Rabbinic-Talmudic medical discourses. This collection opens up new synchronic and diachronic perspectives in the study of the ancient traditions of recipe-books and medical collections. Besides the highly influential Galenic tradition, the contributions will focus on less studied Byzantine and Syriac sources as well as on the Talmudic tradition, which has never been systematically investigated in relation to medicine. This inquiry will highlight the overwhelming mass of information about drugs and remedies, which accumulated over the centuries and was disseminated in a variety of texts belonging to distinct cultural milieus. Through a close analysis of some relevant case studies, this volume will trace some paths of this transmission and transformation of pharmacological knowledge across cultural and linguistic boundaries, by pointing to the variety of disciplines and areas of expertise involved in the process.

The Encyclopedia of Italian Literary Studies is a two-volume reference book containing some 600 entries on all aspects of Italian literary culture. It includes analytical essays on authors and works, from the most important figures of Italian literature to little known authors and works that are influential to the field. The Encyclopedia is distinguished by substantial articles on critics, themes, genres, schools, historical surveys, and other topics related to the overall subject of Italian literary studies. The Encyclopedia also includes writers and subjects of contemporary interest, such as those relating to journalism, film, media, children's literature, food and vernacular literatures. Entries consist of an essay on the topic and a bibliographic portion listing works for further reading, and, in the case of entries on individuals, a brief biographical paragraph and list of works by the person. It will be useful to people without specialized knowledge of Italian literature as well as to scholars.

A beautiful hardcover Pocket Poets selection of the works of Nobel Prize-winning Italian poet Eugenio Montale, one of the giants of twentieth-century poetry. Italy's greatest modern poet, Eugenio Montale, brought the Italian lyric tradition that began with Dante into the twentieth century with unrivaled power and brilliance. Montale is a love poet whose deeply beautiful, individual work confronts the dilemmas of modern history, philosophy, and faith with courage and subtlety; he has been widely translated and his work influenced two generations of American and British poets. Jonathan Galassi's translations are the clearest and most convincing yet, offering English-language readers uniquely readable access to the work of one of the greatest of all modern poets.
